

Italy's Aerial Imagery Archive Re-launched

After a series of extensive updates, the Italian online aerial photography archive known as Terraitaly has been re-launched. The huge aerial portal, which allows anyone to quickly and easily purchase aerial imagery at the click of a button, contains imagery dating back to 1969.

Terraitaly is an important archive for many building surveyors, architects, civil engineers and private consumers looking for both recent and historical high resolution ortho-rectified images of Italian territories.

Terraitaly has been rebuilt from the ground up using Blom's all-in-one web

---

<https://www.gim-international.com/content/news/italy-s-aerial-imagery-archive-re-launched>

---