

Subscription-based UAV Software from SimActive

SimActive, Canada, has announced a subscription-based offering for Correlator3D UAV. The rental option allows users with a dynamic workload to access a high-end product at minimal cost.

According to Dr Philippe Simard, president of SimActive, Correlator3D UAV was developed for leading mapping firms, military and government organisations, with a constant emphasis on ease of use. He added that the subscription model makes the only professional UAV processing tool available for all.

A download of a free trial and different pricing options are available online.

To see the latest version of Correlator3D, SimActive is organising a webinar on Tuesday 18 October 2016, 2:00 PM Eastern Time.