

ACSM to Delay Annual Conference Co-location with GITA

The Geospatial Information & Technology Association (GITA) has been informed by the American Congress on Surveying and Mapping (ACSM), that due a conflict with a major construction industry trade show, ACSM will be unable to co-locate its annual conference with GITA's annual conference and exposition in 2008.

The two organisations have agreed to postpone the co-location of their respective conferences to an as yet undetermined date.

GITA will hold its Annual Conference 31 March 9-12, 2008, in Seattle, Wash., USA.

ACSM and GITA originally decided to participate in a co-location during GITA's Annual Conference 29 and the 2006 ACSM Conference, which were both held in Florida in April 2006.
