

Addressing Conference

URISA and the National Emergency Number Association (NENA) have announced the 2010 URISA/NENA Addressing Conference in Charlotte, North Carolina, taking place from 16th to 18th August 2010.

The conference features three full-day workshops:

- Open Source GIS for Addressing
- Addresses: Key to GIS Success
- Introduction to NG 911 - Geographic Information Systems (GIS) is a major aspect of Next Generation 9-1-1.

The Program Committee organized an educational program based upon abstracts submitted through a Call for Participation and organised according to these topics:

- Adventures in Addressing
- E-911
- Addressing Strategies for Success
