

Blue Marble at International Lidar Mapping Forum

Blue Marble Geographics will be exhibiting at the International Lidar Mapping Forum (ILMF) in Denver, USA, from 23rd January to 25th January 2012. In Booth 80, the company will be showing updates to the Blue Marble Desktop version 2.3, released earlier this year, as well as Blue Marble's newly acquired product, Global Mapper.

Blue Marble's GIS visualisation, geospatial data manipulation and conversion solutions are used worldwide by thousands of GIS analysts at software, oil and gas, mining, civil engineering, surveying, and technology companies, as well as governmental and university organisations.

With the recent acquisition of Global Mapper, Blue Marble remains focused on providing reliable data transformation and visualisation products to the industry.

<https://www.gim-international.com/content/news/blue-marble-at-international-lidar-mapping-forum>
