

Encom Releases Encom Compass Scout

Encom Technology (Australia) has released Encom Compass Scout, free personal data management software for MapInfo Professional datasets. Compass Scout is the latest addition to the Compass data management suite of products and is designed to manage personal MapInfo Professional datasets.

Effective data management is important to all organisations and up until now data management tools have been limited to large enterprises. Compass Scout offers users a free and easy to use tool to manage MapInfo Professional spatial data. Compass Scout ensures local datasets are catalogued, readily accessible and effortlessly located; thus avoiding costly data duplication, resulting in increased productivity.

Productivity tools include dynamic spatial searching, automated metadata capture, basic metadata management and powerful filtering.

<https://www.gim-international.com/content/news/encom-releases-encom-compass-scout>
