

ESRI Recognises Partners

ESRI president Jack Dangermond acknowledged organisations that have been ESRI business partners for more than twenty years during the 2010 ESRI Worldwide Business Partner Conference (BPC), on 22nd March in Tampa, USA.

"Our business partners fuel the strength and reach of GIS," said Dangermond. "ESRI values their expertise, insight, and commitment to our users, and we want to acknowledge their tremendous work over the past 20-plus years-we want to thank them for their contributions to ESRI's success."

The partners honoured were:

- Strategic Information Systems Group (a business partner since 1987)
- BAE Systems National Security Solutions (since 1988)
- Global Systems Modeling, Ltd. (since 1988)
- Green Mountain GeoGraphics, Ltd. (since 1988)

ESRI's partners represent a global network of organisations that integrate and extend a variety of technologies and solutions for a broad range of industries. They collaborate with ESRI to take GIS solutions into new markets, assist customers with ESRI technology, and strengthen the worldwide GIS user community. In return, partners are able to expand their businesses and deepen their involvement in the GIS market and their relationship with ESRI.
