

GeoMax steps into Gulf Region

GeoMax steps into the Gulf region, presenting a range of affordable instruments for surveying, engineering and construction. GeoMax, part of the Hexagon Group, is an internationally active company developing, manufacturing and distributing surveying instruments.

GeoMax builds on an international network of qualified distribution partners. The first country to be approached in the Gulf region was the UAE. The UAE market has a tremendous potential and has therefore a leading function for the entire Gulf region.

With the company Hillsborough, GeoMax is relying on a partner with a team which is familiar with the local market and wellknown to the customers for many years. Hillsborough's team has the experience and knowledge in serving the needs of the local surveying, engineering and construction market.
