

Leica Cooperates with University Breslau

A cooperation agreement between the Technical University of Breslau and Leica Geosystems has been signed; an example of how research and education on the one hand and development and production on the other hand can work together successfully.

The Technical University of Breslau is one of the most innovative educational institutes in Poland with a very long tradition. The Architecture faculty continues this tradition with the establishment of a Competence and Training Centre for 3D Laserscanning.

The aim of these new facilities will be to offer training courses countrywide and as such contribute to spreading - and making accessible - this new technology to a broader public.

Source: Leica Geosystems

---

<https://www.gim-international.com/content/news/leica-cooperates-with-university-breslau>

---