

New 1Spatial Appointments

1Spatial (United Kingdom) has appointed several new professionals across their company. Five of them join the team at the company's headquarters in Cambridge.

Scott Wakeling and Robin Newton join the development team, with a wide-range of skills from both public and private sector organisations. Ellie Gittos arrives in marketing with experience of working with specialist audiences. John Sanders enlists with the sales team, bringing with him experience in the local government IT sector. Andrew Gosney, a new product manager, has a geospatial data background and has previously worked for Ordnance Survey as well as more commercial organisations.
