

New European Manager for Hemisphere

Mark Newman has been appointed as European business development manager for the Hemisphere GPS product range. According to CSI Wireless (Canada) and Sadaret (UK) the new post has been created to facilitate wider, faster access to Hemisphere GPS products and services through substantial expansion of their European distributor and service centre network. In addition to many areas within the marine sector, the company will also be focussing on agriculture and land survey industries.

<https://www.gim-international.com/content/news/new-european-manager-for-hemisphere>
