

SuperGIS Training in Kuwait

SuperGeo Technologies has completed a SuperGIS training programme in Kuwait at end of December 2010 for Kuwait Institute for Scientific Research (KISR). Around 20 people from KISR and some more representatives from other government sectors, Kuwait University, etc. joined in the training and presentation.

KISR is to carry out applied scientific research related to industries, natural resources, etc. to the economic and social development for Kuwait. The Geo-Informatics Center at KISR, for example, affects the expenditure planning and application development of GIS technologies for the whole country.

Considering the successful sales performance and the high potential in Kuwait market, SuperGeo and its distributor, International Integrated Environmental Services Ltd. (IIES), co-planned the professional SuperGIS training course and SuperGeo presentation.

Not only the GIS experts at the Center, but also the representatives from other departments at KISR, related government sectors, such as EPA, MPW, as well as Kuwait University, also joined in the presentation and meeting. SuperGIS software and applications have received very positive feedback from the audience.
