

SuperMap Appoints Japak GIS

Japak GIS Limited in Kenya is appointed as the authorized exclusive distributor of SuperMap GIS products for Kenya and Ethiopia, and the non-exclusive distributor for Uganda and Tanzania. Headquartered in Nairobi, Kenya, JapakGIS is a GIS software development and services company that provides platform software, customised software and solutions to all market segments.

JapakGIS has been involved in various GIS projects in the Government, NGO, community development projects and environmental organisations. The company has qualified staff in sales support, projects management and application development. Its mission is to help customers get the most from their investment in GIS. JapakGIS's deep understanding of geospatial technologies and proven business skills will help them achieve their vision by turning ordinary spatial data/datasets with a geographic component into actionable intelligence. East Africa is appreciating the power of a geographic information system (GIS) to organise, visualise, and analyse data.
